WARNING SIGNS AND HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM FRAUDSTERS

- Criminals use call-spoofing to mislead victims. Don't assume that phone numbers appearing on your call display are accurate
- If you receive a suspicious or odd message from a trusted friend, contact them through a different means of communication to confirm that it's actually them
- If you get an unsolicited email or text asking you to click a link or open an attachment – don't do it
- If contacted by a company, don't use the contact information provided in the message. Look up the legitimate contact information elsewhere and contact it directly
- Use reputable service providers located in your area
- Locate and verify the service provider's contact information—address, phone number, email—before paying for the service
- Be wary of letters offering you an inheritance. These letters will often claim to come from lawyers or accountants
- If you receive a letter claiming you've won a free prize, know that you are not required to pay up front fees to collect winnings

If you've been the victim of cybercrime or fraud report it to your local police & to the CAFC's online reporting system or by phone at 1-888-495-8501. If you're not a victim, report it to the CAFC anyway!

DID YOU KNOW?

You may have heard about Federal Credit Unions operating in Canada over the past few years and wondered what they were or why they may pursue Federal status.

Since 2012, provincial credit unions can opt for federal status, allowing them to operate nationwide. This transition involves a rigorous application process. While deposits in provincial credit unions in Saskatchewan are fully guaranteed, upon federal transition, they fall under CDIC protection like banks. Reasons for seeking federal status vary.

Innovation Credit Union is the first Credit Union in Saskatchewan to obtain this status in 2023, prompting a name change to Innovation Federal Credit Union.
